Strategy Information

The AMC offers the opportunity to participate in the outcomes of a systematic trading strategy focused on Gold-Futures and Gold-related Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs).

This strategy employs a quantitative approach that exclusively takes long positions based on specific price configurations.

Two robust systems, operating in parallel, drive this strategy: one dedicated to trading Gold and the other to trade Indices linked to Gold Mining companies.

On average, the 100%-rule-based system executes 35 trades annually, each with a holding period ranging from 1 to 6 days.

Instruments: The primary instruments employed are Gold futures on NYMEX and highly liquid ETFs within the same domain (such as GLD and GDV). For currency hedging purposes, the portfolio may utilize FX cash or futures, particularly in the EUR/USD currency pair.

Investment Objective: The primary objective of this investment product is to offer a valuable substitute or complement to any gold portfolio. This product boasts an exceptionally low correlation with its benchmark and a Sharpe Ratio well above 1. In practical terms, investors can anticipate an average annual gain of 16% with a volatility of 13%.
